I forward, for the information of Your Excellency, and with a view to its provisions being made widely known in India, 300 copies of a memorandum of the Board of Agriculture relating to the importation of dogs into this country.

2. A copy of the covering letter is also enclosed.

No. 7204-A., dated 4, Whitehall Place, London, S. W., the 4th March 1899.
T. H. Elliott, Esq., Secretary, Board of Agriculture, to the Under-Secretary of State, India Office.

I am directed by the Board of Agriculture to transmit to you 500 copies of a memorandum containing information as to the conditions prescribed by the Board in connection with the importation of dogs into Great Britain, with a view to the prevention of the re-introduction of rabies, now practically extinct in this country.

The Board think it important that the information contained in the memorandum should be made widely known, and I am therefore to ask you to move the Secretary of State to issue instructions for the transmission of copies of the memorandum to His Excellency the Governor General of India and to Their Excellencies the Governors of Madras and Bombay for the information of persons concerned. As it frequently happens that officers returning from the Army return to England accompanied by their dogs, the Board think that it would be of advantage if the information contained in the memorandum could be circulated at military stations in India.

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE.

IMPORTATION OF DOGS INTO GREAT BRITAIN.

Memorandum as to the conditions which have been prescribed in order to prevent the introduction of Rabies.

1. The disease of rabies in dogs and of hydrophobia in man, which remains prevalent in ost all other parts of the world, has become practically extinct in this country, but as it may ain latent in a dog for a very long period, it has become necessary, in the interests of owners logs in this country, to adopt precautions against the re-introduction of the disease by means of dogs which may, unknown to their owners, have become infected whilst in a foreign country.

2. The Importation of Dogs Orders, therefore, prohibit the introduction of dogs into Great Britain from any foreign country or British Possession, other than the Channel Islands, without the sanction of the Board of Agriculture; and the landing of a dog from abroad (whether originally exported from Great Britain or not) will, unless a license has previously been obtained, render the owner liable to a penalty of £20 and the possible seizure of the dog.

3. Every person wishing to introduce a dog into Great Britain must, before the dog is embarked, obtain a license permitting the landing of the dog on arrival; and the attention of owners, charterers, and masters of vessels carrying dogs is drawn to the fact that, by permitting the landing of such dogs from their vessels without the requisite licenses, they render themselves liable to legal proceedings.

4. Every application for a license for landing a dog should be made in writing, on a form which will be supplied to bonâ fide applicants. It must be signed by the owner of the dog, or by his agent specially authorized in writing for the purpose, and should be sent to The Secretary, Board of Agriculture, 4, Whitehall Place, London, S. W., in sufficient time to enable the Board to make full inquiries into the circumstances of the application, and the suitability of the proposed premises for the isolation of the dog, and to communicate to the owner their decision before the embarkation of the dog is to take place.

5. In order that the Board may have it on record that the conditions on which alone a license can be issued are fully known by the owner of the dog (or the person if other than the owner, in whose charge it is to be detained), the signature of the owner or of the proposed custodian of the dog is to be subscribed to the undertaking printed on the back of the form of application. The signature of an agent cannot, in any case, be accepted as sufficient, unless he is prepared personally to undertake the charge of the dog during the whole period of detention.

In very exceptional cases, the Board are prepared to entertain applications made by , on the following conditions :—

The telegram must set forth the description of the dog, stating as far as possible for purposes of identification the particulars of its breed, sex, age and colour, and the place where it is proposed that the animal should be detained.

e place of detention must be the residence of a householder, or other responsible resident of long standing, in Great Britain, who is prepared to detain the dog on the premises for not less than ninety days in accordance with the conditions of the license; and the full name and address of the person must be given so as to enable the Board, before the license is issued, to place themselves in communication with him to ascertain whether he is in a position to fulfil the requisite conditions.

address must also be named in the telegram to which the Board can send the license if issued, or otherwise communicate their decision to the applicant. This should be some place in the country of embarkation, as shipowners cannot properly permit the embarkation of any dog on board their vessels for importation into this country unless the dog is accompanied by the requisite license.

e telegram should contain the undertaking of the owner to carry out the conditions mposed.

onditions imposed in the license require the detention of the dog for a period of some suitable private premises to be specified by the owner, and approved by the ill be under the supervision of the officers of the Board and of the Local spection it should be produced, if required. But if the general conditions ried out, the Board are prepared, on the production of a certificate of ry surgeon that the dog is not affected with, or suspected of, rabies, to the release of the dog after a period of detention of ninety days. Dogs y purchased from foreign dealers or of which the antecedents are unto special restrictions and a longer period of detention.

te place of residence is regarded in most instances as a suitable place ther similar premises where the dog cannot be conveniently isolat- s of detention.

10. On arrival at a port in Great Britain and before the dog can be landed, the holder of the license is required to produce it for the inspection of the officer of Her Majesty's Customs, who is empowered and directed to mark it with the name of the port, the date of landing, and his initials, as a verification of the legality of the landing.

11. The dog must be taken as soon as it is landed, by the nearest available route, and without unnecessary delay, to the premises specified in the license.

12. In the case, however, of dogs landed late in the day, and where the place of detention is several hours' journey from the port, the Board do not object to the journey of the dog from one place to the other being broken by its detention at some suitable place for one night only, provided that it is kept absolutely apart from all other dogs, and that the journey is resumed the next day and completed with all reasonable despatch.

13. In every case the license should accompany the dog on its journey, and be retained by the person in charge until it is required to be returned to the Board.

14. It should be clearly understood that the dog cannot in any case be moved from the place of detention, either to other premises or to a vessel for exportation out of the United Kingdom, without a further license from the Board; but should exceptional circumstances arise which render such removal necessary or expedient, the Board are prepared to consider an application for a license, provided that they are satisfied by the production of a certificate of a duly qualified veterinary surgeon that the dog is not affected with, or suspected of, rabies. When the proposed removal is to some other place in the United Kingdom, a suitable place must be specified where the dog can be kept for the remainder of the period of detention.

15. During the period of detention the dog, when temporarily moved for exercise or other like purpose from the place of detention, must be in charge of a competent person, and be properly muzzled with a wire cage muzzle, and this latter condition is also applicable when the dog is likely at any time to be brought into contact with other dogs.

16. Should the dog die, or be lost, the fact should be at once reported to the Board, together with full information as to the symptoms preceding death, or the circumstances under which the loss took place; and, in the event of the dog sickening with any of the symptoms of rabies, it should be at once isolated, and the advice of a veterinary surgeon obtained.

17. Licenses to which special conditions are attached, are issued by the Board to land bonâ fide performing dogs, if it can be shown that the dogs have been trained to take part in performances for the entertainment of the public, and that they are to be imported for that purpose only. In such cases satisfactory evidence must be offered that the animals are habitually kept absolutely apart from all other dogs, whether in this country, or abroad, and a place must be specified where the dogs can be examined, if thought necessary, after being landed.

18. For the convenience of persons passing through Great Britain, the Board are prepared, in special cases, to authorize the landing of dogs which are proposed to [illegible] within a few days. In making an application for such a license, the ports, the vessels, and the dates of arrival and departure, must be specified, and the address of a suitable place where the dog can be detained during the period that it remains in [illegible] which must not exceed ten days. The license in this case should be endorsed by the vessel of departure, and returned to the Board by the owner, and the dog must not be landed in Great Britain without a further license.
